Please note that SCITEXT CAMBRIDGE, the editing service specialising in scientific documents, has changed its mailing address to:

SCITEXT CAMBRIDGE
139 Macaulay Square,
CAMBRIDGE, CB22 5AG, U.K.

Our fax number and email address have NOT changed. All current contact details are on our website <www.scitext.com>

We are sending you this email because you have used our editing service or expressed interest in our services.

Some of our clients send us documents to edit by airmail. This is slower, because even if you prefer us to edit by hand on hard copy with return by fax, we can print the file if you email it to us. But we are committed to edit all files for our clients whether they arrive by email, fax or airmail.

We thank you for your interest in the past and we trust that we can be of service to you in the future. Our website gives full details of our services. You can also read (for free) our major file <www.scitext.com/writing.php> on how to write or improve your scientific writing in English. We have served the worldwide research community for more than 10 years and we look forward to a further decade of helping scientists widen their readership through superior expression of their ideas.

With all good wishes for your research,

Dr. Anthony Garrett
